

Best Practice Museum of the Future - the Green Room in Atlas

In 2019 our new, super sustainable, Atlas Building was re-opened, the main building of the TU/e campus where the Service Departments, the Board and some faculties are seated. On the ground floor of this building, a room was specifically dedicated to the GO Green Office (GGO). Instead of just becoming another standard meeting room, the GGO decided that this room needed to become the sustainability hub of the TU/e, latter dubbed "The Green Room".

The Purpose

The purpose of the Green Room is twofold:

1. To have a physical space for the Green Room to represent the TU/e when it comes to sustainability, innovation and technology.
2. The Green Room is a physical and virtual place to connect the sustainability community so they can interact, connect and learn from each other. The Sustainability Hub will have a key role in connecting the sustainability community at the TU/e, as it will be used as a meeting place and as a place where you can exhibit what you work on.

The Solution:

What we created at the opening in 2021 is exactly what we envisioned, a place that connects research, education and the services on sustainability matters.

And a place where people meet and connect, where brainstorming is being held and a place that inspires and where people can freely wander in if it's not in use.

Exhibitions

We've had two different professionally organized exhibitions:

- The first exhibition was on the SDG's and how the TU/e helps to achieve those goals.
- The second exhibition was a collaboration with EIRES (research), GO Green Office and ELC, on how the TU/e helps to enable the transition from natural gas.

Other Activities:

- Movie Nights
- Used as Meeting Room
- Meetup with Milieudefensie
- COP26 Event
- Exposition for Chair of the Future

Learn more about our Sustainability Best Practices and get involved by connecting via our LinkedIn page or sending us an email: sustainability@tue.nl

Got an Idea? Share It!
We're all about innovation, and your ideas matter!

